Love Food Hate Waste

Listen to the text

Save food. Beat the bin.

Let us kick off a new trend – saving edible food rather than chucking it in the bin. 'Love Food Hate Waste' is on a mission to ensure all edible food is eaten across the world, starting with each of us in our own homes.

It takes water, energy, fuel and packaging to produce the food we all love and buy. Does it really belong in the bin?

Half of the food we throw away can be eaten, keeping it out of the bin is good for our pockets and the planet combined.

MAKE TOAST NOT WASTE

Did you know that you can toast bread straight from the freezer and still have the same delicious taste? Well it's true! Every day in the UK, 20 million slices of bread are thrown away - mostly because they are not used in time.

That means that the average person in the UK throws out more than half of a loaf of bread every month! You can keep bread for longer by putting it in the freezer and then use it straight from frozen to make toast.

You can help to stop food waste

There is an easy way how you can quickly help to stop the food waste around the world. And it truly is a simple one.

All you have to do is to frequently visit the farmers market in your town. But why does this help to stop the awful food waste?

Well, a lot of the food which you can buy in big or small supermarkets is widely produced overseas. This means that the red apple, grown in sunny New Zealand, has to travel all the way to faraway Europe before you can happily eat it.

That is a very long journey and lots of delicious produce will not even make it to the local supermarket because it no longer looks good or rotted along the way and is thoughtlessly thrown away.

A lot of tasty produce travels long routes only to sadly end in the trash.

Did you know that juicy apples also grow in our region? We have a lot of busy farmers around us who proudly sell their mouthwatering fruits and vegetables, but also delicate dairy, nourishing meat, fluffy bread and tender fish at the local farmers market.

The scenic farmers market in Waldshut, for example, is open from 7 am to 1 pm every Wednesday and Saturday. The kind farmers offer a broad variety of locally grown produce.

With thoughtful shopping at the farmers market, you can help to stop the food waste.
